

A note from
Ceredigion County Council

Whilst we all acknowledge the importance of the tradition of placing flowers on the graves of loved ones to keep their memories alive, we also need to emphasise that it would not be appropriate or safe for families to visit cemeteries this year because of the risks posed by Coronavirus.

As much as we would all want to carry on with this tradition and display of love towards those close to us that we have lost, we cannot put our or other people's health at risk.

Stay at Home,
Save Lives